Soccerex Brings the Global Football Industry to Miami's Nu Stadium in Landmark 2026 Announcement

The World's Leading Football Business Platform Selects Nu Stadium as the Home of Its Flagship Global Gathering

MIAMI (May 29, 2026) — Soccerex, the leading global football business platform connecting the worldwide football industry through events, strategic relationships and year-round business opportunities, today announced that its flagship global gathering will take place September 23–25, 2026 at Nu Stadium within the Miami Freedom Park site in Miami, Florida.

The announcement represents a defining moment in Soccerex's continued evolution from a traditional event business into a year-round global platform focused on driving strategic connectivity, commercial growth, measurable business outcomes and long-term impact across the football ecosystem.

As football's influence across North America accelerates ahead of a transformative era for the sport in the region, Soccerex Miami 2026 will convene senior executives, investors, clubs, leagues, federations, brands, media groups, technology companies, rights holders and commercial stakeholders from across the international game in one of the world's fastest-growing football markets.

The multi-day gathering will feature industry-leading conferences, curated networking, strategic business meetings and high-level programming designed to facilitate meaningful partnerships, drive measurable outcomes and accelerate opportunities across the global football landscape.

Central to the event will be Soccerex's expanding Deal Network platform, a curated business ecosystem designed to connect decision-makers, investors, rights holders and strategic partners in more targeted and outcome-driven ways throughout the year. The platform reflects Soccerex's broader vision of transforming industry connections into measurable commercial opportunities, strategic relationships and long-term industry growth.

The event will also feature continued expansion of HerSoccerex, Soccerex's dedicated women's football initiative focused on accelerating investment, visibility, leadership opportunities and commercial growth across the women's game globally.

In addition to its business focus, Soccerex Miami 2026 will place significant emphasis on community engagement and impact initiatives designed to harness the power of football to create opportunity, inspire future generations and leave a meaningful legacy throughout the communities the sport touches.

“Miami has become one of the most important crossroads in global football,” said Garrett Navia.

“The city sits at the intersection of the Americas, international business, culture, investment and the future growth of the sport itself. Bringing Soccerex to Nu Stadium is not just about hosting another event, it is about establishing a long-term home for the global football industry in one of the most dynamic football markets anywhere in the world.

For nearly 30 years, Soccerex has connected the global game. What we are building now is much bigger, a year-round platform designed to create business opportunities, strategic relationships and measurable outcomes across football while also using the reach and influence of the sport to create meaningful impact and lasting legacy within the communities it touches.”

Located within the transformative Miami Freedom Park, Nu Stadium represents the premier football and entertainment destinations in the Americas and provides a world-class backdrop for Soccerex’s expanding international platform.

Soccerex Miami 2026 is expected to serve as a major convening point for conversations surrounding investment, infrastructure, sponsorship, media, fan engagement, technology, innovation, women’s football and the continued globalization of the sport.

Additional announcements regarding speakers, strategic partners, community initiatives and industry activations will be released in the coming months.
